FOREWORD

It gives me pleasure to present the Council’s Strategic Plan 2015 to 2018. The Strategic Plan is an evolving document that is reviewed annually to take account of changing situations, government policies and emerging issues affecting consumers. The plan is expected to play a positive role in achieving a market place where consumers are well informed, confident and protected from unlawful, deceptive, misleading or otherwise objectionable practices. It is critical that consumers understand their rights and responsibilities and have the skills and confidence necessary to ensure they receive the best quality services and value for money.

A clear direction to design Council’s Strategic Plan was provided by the Fiji Institute of Applied Studies (FIAS) Report. FIAS Report made recommendations after a comprehensive review of the Council’s consumer awareness and service delivery programs which was funded by the AusAID. I wish to thank the Government of Australia and the European Union for assisting the Council financially to implement this strategic plan.

The Plan provides the framework against which the Council will prioritise its activities for action for the next 4 years. The staff of the Council will turn these strategies into Work Programme each year so that it delivers the activities effectively for the benefit of the consumers. The revised Strategic Plan outlines the Council’s roles and functions and highlights its mandate, mission statement, values and aspirations. The objectives and strategies in this document are designed to spell out a sense of purpose and source of direction.

The Plan further highlights the strategic objectives which the Council will endeavor to achieve in the next 4 years keeping in view the resources available to it. Developing the Plan has been a real challenge particularly with the level of awareness that the Council has created which has led to greater expectations of the consumers from the Council. This is a very positive impact and will be further built upon for the future.

It is our hope that we will continue to engage with all our partners as we take this Plan forward in a spirit of openness and partnership for change for the benefit of consumers. We firmly believe that our Strategic Plan provides a focused approach to address issues confronting our consumers.

PURPOSE OF THE STRATEGIC PLAN

This Plan sets out what the Council will be doing over the 4 year period from January 2015, and how the Council intends to get there. The Plan outlines our vision, mission, values, operating principles, objectives and implementation strategies for 2015-2018. It provides the direction for a more detailed annual work programme, which will clearly identify how we will measure our performance against key result areas. It gives the direction for management decisions and priorities for all levels of the Council’s work, and provides a basis for measuring and reviewing the individual staff and overall performance of the Council.

Given the Council’s mandate stated in the Consumer Council of Fiji Act-1976, the Council’s strategies, activities and performance indicators have been reviewed to accommodate consumer complaints, research conducted by the Council and the emerging issues identified by the Consumers International.
VISION STATEMENT

To build a society of informed and responsible consumers in which everyone is treated fairly, obtains value for money and is able to exercise their consumer rights

MISSION STATEMENT

Make consumer voice heard and make it count
1.0 OUR VALUES

The Council is committed to achieving positive change for consumers. As a small organization with limited resources, the Council will play an active role as a catalyst and facilitator for positive change in the marketplace.

Everything that we do during the implementation of this Strategic Plan will reflect our core values.

- Professional, impartial and ethical in all our dealings.
- Accessible and helpful in sharing our knowledge.
- Transparent, accountable and consistent in our approach.
- Collaborative, innovative, proactive and focused on achieving outstanding results.
- Dedicated to learning, team work and mutual respect.
- Foster open and honest communication.
- Value new ideas and seek ways of doing things better.

2.0 OUR PRINCIPLES

- Campaign fearlessly to change the policies and practices that adversely affect consumer interests;
- Maintain a highly disciplined result-oriented focus that maximises impact for consumers;
- Maintain objectivity in resolving consumer complaints without fear or favour; and
- Build a strong financial management and sound operating procedures.

3.0 ABOUT THE CONSUMER COUNCIL

3.1 The Consumer Council of Fiji (CCF) is a statutory body established under the Consumer Council Act (Cap 235). The Council, as a watchdog protects the rights and interests of consumers by promoting a fair and just delivery of goods and services. First and foremost the Consumer Council is an advocacy organisation, conducting rigorous research and policy analysis on key consumer issues. CCF’s insight into consumer need is a powerful tool for influencing decision-makers to bring about change. The Council protects the vulnerable groups such as rural poor, physically and mentally challenged, children and women by identifying and articulating the policy issues that are of importance to the consumers.

3.2 Board members are appointed by the Minister for Industry and Trade for a term or terms as the Minister may determine. The Chairperson of the Council reports to the Minister. The Board of Directors appoint the Chief Executive Officer to lead and manage the Council affairs within the legal framework and by maintaining high ethical standards. From corporate governance perspective, a Board Charter is in place that sets the rules and procedures within which the Board functions.

4.0 FUNCTIONS OF THE COUNCIL

Section 6 of the Consumer Council Act stipulates the functions of the Council. The Council is required to do such acts and things it considers necessary or expedient to ensure that the interests of the consumers of goods and services are promoted and protected.

These functions include:

- Advising the Minister on such matters affecting the interests of the consumers;
- Making representations to the Government or to any other person/organizations on any issues affecting the interests of consumers;
- Collecting, collating and disseminating information in respect of matters affecting the interests of consumers;
- Supporting or maintaining legal proceedings initiated by a consumer, where such support is deemed necessary;
- Conducting research and investigations into matters affecting consumers;
- Advising and assisting consumers on matters affecting their interests;
- Co-operating with any person, association or organization outside Fiji having similar functions and becoming a member of or affiliate to any international organization concerned with consumer matters; and
- Soliciting and accepting for the purposes of the Council any money, land, or other property from the Government, any local authority, public body, organization, or person by way of grant, subsidy, donation, gift, or otherwise.

The Consumer Council Act 1976 was amended in 1992 by Decree No 23. The amendment deleted a few key functions of the Council to promulgate the “Trade Standards and Quality Control Decree 1991”. Whether the amendment decree reduced the specifically listed functions to prevent the CCF from actually carrying out these functions is a matter of legal interpretation. As long as the amendment does not prohibit the carrying out of the three functions, the general power of the Council can be invoked to continue to carry out research, and/or examination or testing of goods and services, and receiving and acting on consumer complaints. The overriding function is to ‘do all such acts and things that it may consider necessary or expedient to ensure that the interests of consumers of goods and services are promoted and protected’ [s6 (1)]. The 1992 amendment to the Consumer Council Act seems to be redundant as consequential amendments were not made to the Act.
5.0 GENERAL PRINCIPLES

The Government endorsed the United Nations Guidelines for Consumer Protection that represents an internationally recognized set of minimum objectives to protect and promote consumer interests. The Council is guided by the United Nations Guidelines for Consumer Protection, briefly given as follows:

Governments should develop, strengthen or maintain a strong consumer policy, taking into account the guidelines set out below. In so doing, each Government must set its own priorities for the protection of consumers in accordance with the economic and social circumstances of the country, and the needs of its population, and bearing in mind the costs and benefits of proposed measures.

The legitimate needs that the guidelines are intended to meet are translated into the nine basic rights and responsibilities of consumers. These are the essential starting point for the Council’s policies.

5.1 Consumer Rights

- The right to satisfaction of basic needs – Right to have access to basic essential products and services, adequate food, clothing, shelter, health care, education, water and sanitation;

- The right to safety- Right to be protected against production processes, products and services that are hazardous to health or life;

- The right to be informed- Right to be given facts needed to make an informed choice, and to be protected against dishonest or misleading advertising or labelling;

- The right to choose- Right to be able to select from a range of products and services, offered at competitive prices with an assurance of satisfactory quality;

- The right to be heard- Right to have consumer interests represented in the making and execution of government policy, and in the development of products and services;

- The right to redress- Right to receive a fair settlement of just claims, including compensation for misrepresentation, badly made products or unsatisfactory services;

- The right to consumer education- Right to acquire knowledge and skills needed to make informed, confident choices about products and services while being aware of basic consumer rights and responsibilities and how to act on them;
- The right to a healthy environment - Right to live and work in an environment that is non-threatening to the well-being of present and future generations; and

- The right to service – Right to receive the highest possible standard of service from public and private sector service providers regardless of consumers’ income and irrespective of whether they live in an urban or rural areas.

5.2 Consumer Responsibilities

- Critical Awareness - to be more alert and question the price and quality of goods and services we use.

- Action – to be assertive and take action to ensure that we get a fair deal and avoid being exploited by traders and service providers.

- Social Concern – to be aware of the impact of our consumption on other citizens, especially disadvantaged or powerless groups whether in the local, national or international community.

- Environmental Awareness – to understand the environmental and other consequences of our consumption. We should recognize our individual and social responsibility to conserve natural resources and protect the earth for future generations.

- Solidarity – to come together as consumers to strengthen and protect our interests.

6.0 GENERAL FRAMEWORK

6.1 Consumer Policy

Consumer policy can contribute to poverty alleviation, efficient markets, good governance and the promotion of consumer justice. The Council will actively pursue the three pillars of consumer policy:

1. Consumer Protection Legislations and Regulations,
2. Consumer Representation, and
3. Empowerment of individual consumers through education and dissemination of information.

Within this general framework, the Council will:

- Actively advocate for stringent enforcement of existing consumer protection legislations;
• Advocate for consumer representation at national policy making level and at appropriate bodies dealing with key consumer issues; and

Campaigns empower consumers to voice against unethical practices in a marketplace. The Council will:

• Campaign effectively on key consumer issues and lobby for policy reforms; and
• Gather evidences to advocate for reforms in the marketplace on a product or service.

6.3 Consumer Education & Awareness

Consumer education addresses not only problems of consumers individually, but also targets sustainable consumption, social justice, human rights, ethical values and poverty alleviation. • Promote active participation and consumer awareness amongst traders and service providers; and
• Develop multilingual consumer education and awareness materials for consumers in Fiji.

6.4 Trade and Economics

The daily lives of consumers across the world are directly affected by the actions of governments and international institutions in regulating and liberalizing trade, investment and the practices of international business. Speculative financial flows, regional and multilateral trade liberalization, and corporate mergers and acquisitions are of particular concern.

The Council, in concert with any organization in the region and internationally, will ensure that the interests and rights of consumers are recognized and protected in international and regional trade and economic agreements. The Council will:
Advocate for the inclusion of consumer interests in the formation of trade and economic policies;
Research the impact of trade liberalization on the daily lives of consumers;
Promote the use of competition policy which enhances consumer welfare nationally;
Encourage Government to develop and implement policies/ laws based on UN Guidelines on Consumer Protection;
Encourage businesses to adopt standards in delivering their goods and services to consumers; and Encourage businesses to be transparent, fair and responsible when dealing with consumers.

6.5 International Rules and Standards

International rules and standards have major impact on safe design, performance and fit for purpose of products and services, and hence provide vital safeguards and protection for consumers. Standards should take into account consumer concerns and grievances against product and services which consumers use in their daily lives. The Council will:

- Lobby with the Department of National Trade Measurement and Standards to develop and implement Standards;
- Encourage Trade Standard and Advisory Council and other organisations to prevent the entry of inferior quality and ill packaged goods into Fiji;
- Increase public awareness on the importance of standards in protecting consumers; and
- Participate in national/ international standards development forums that are of interest to the Council.

6.6 Sustainable Consumption

Find ways to improve the quality of life for consumers while preserving the natural environment and ensuring equitable distribution of the country’s resources. The Council will encourage consumers, Government and industries to adopt behaviours, policies and practices that will promote sustainable consumption. The Council will:

- Promote public transport systems, car pooling and other ways to prevent traffic congestion and pollution of the environment;
- Ensure that consumers have accurate and reliable information on the environmental impacts of their buying decisions and lifestyle choices;
- Promote water and energy conservation;
- Raise consumer and industry awareness on production and marketing practices that are consistent with sound environmental policies; and
- Raise consumer awareness on buying of fair trade, environment friendly and energy-efficient products and services.
7.0 CORE FOCUS AREAS

The Council will strive to pursue the following:

The price, quality and reliability of these services and access to them are the most important issues for consumers. The consumer interest should be the basis for planning and decision making. - To protect the use of children in advertising and marketing of products;
- Against irresponsible marketing and promotion of junk foods and unsafe products to children in school canteens, sporting events and via media; and
- With the Ministry of Education and schools to enhance consumer education.

7.6 Safe and fair financial services

Consumers are facing difficulties with the rapid pace of financial innovation, the growing complexity of financial products, and the increasing financial risks and responsibilities transferred to households. The need to teach people how to spend, save, invest, borrow and manage debt wisely has become more important than ever, in both developed and developing countries.

As governments implement policies to promote economic recovery, financial education programmes should be targeted at all levels of society – the most vulnerable and the financially excluded, as well as the general public – to help sustain consumer confidence and create economies that can better withstand market fluctuations. In this regard the Council will:
